

Switching account

Within the our products, we have many users who have multiple accounts so we have provided a way for those users to switch their accounts right from the my account navbar menu. The switch account button will only appear if the user has more than one account.

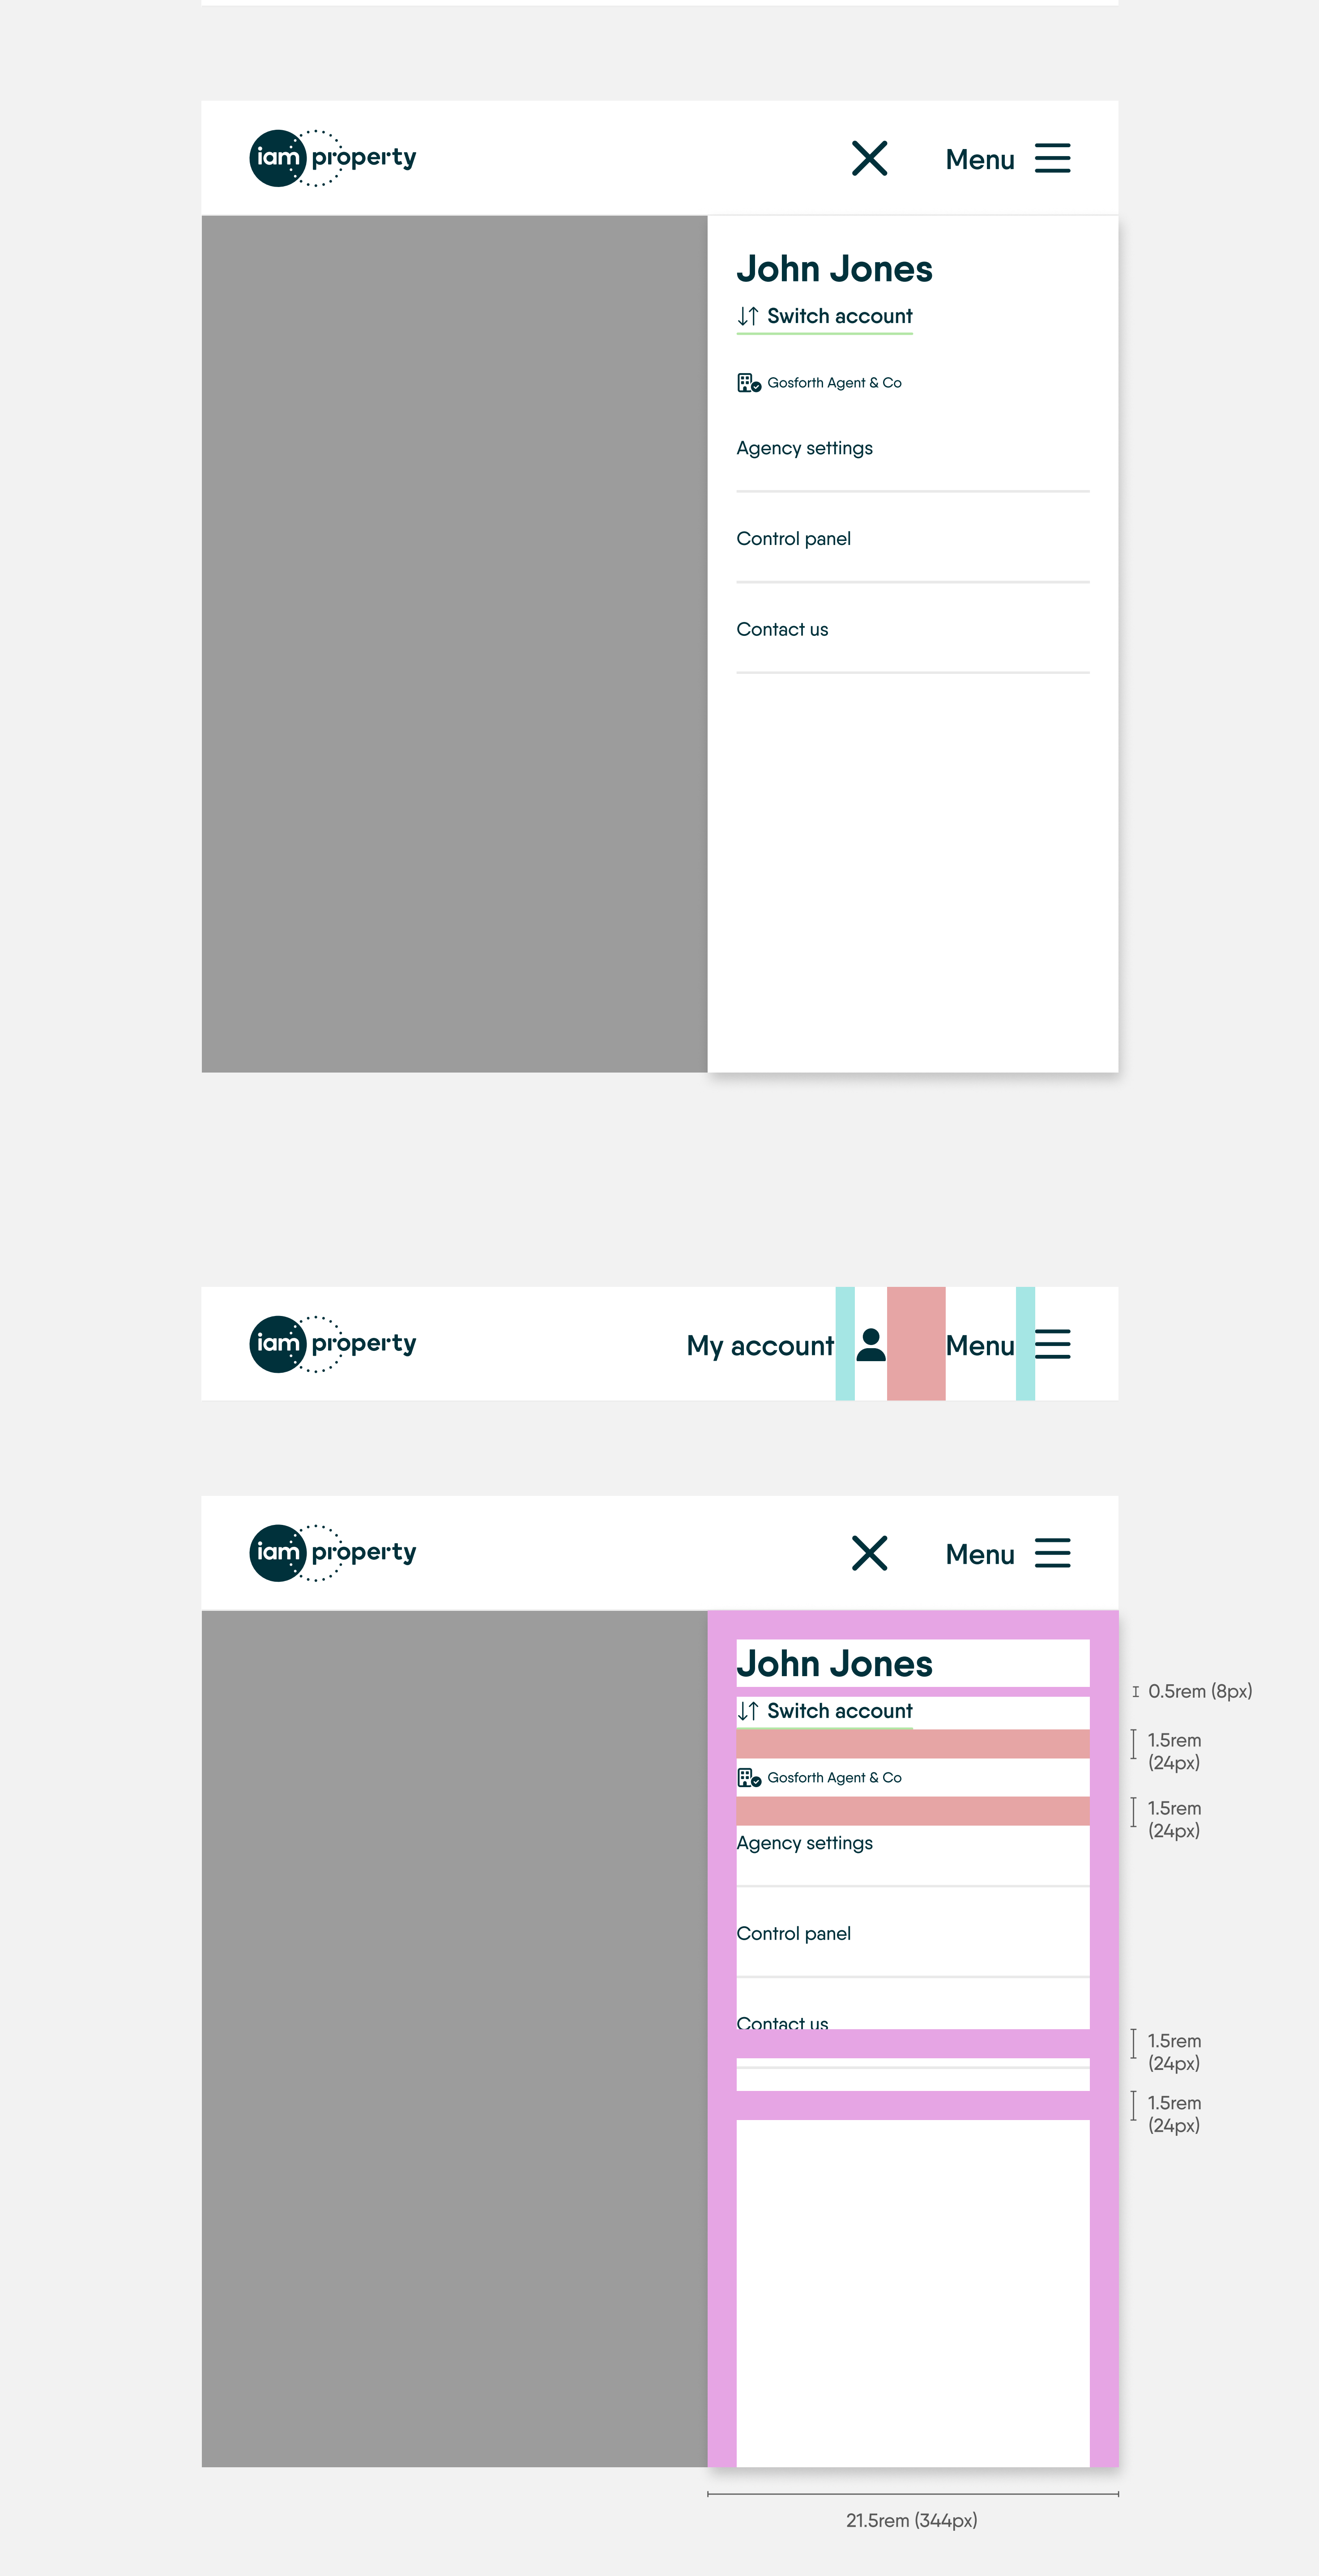

Below documents where that switch account is positioned in the navbar menu and the page template required to perform the switch.

Account switcher placement in navbar menu

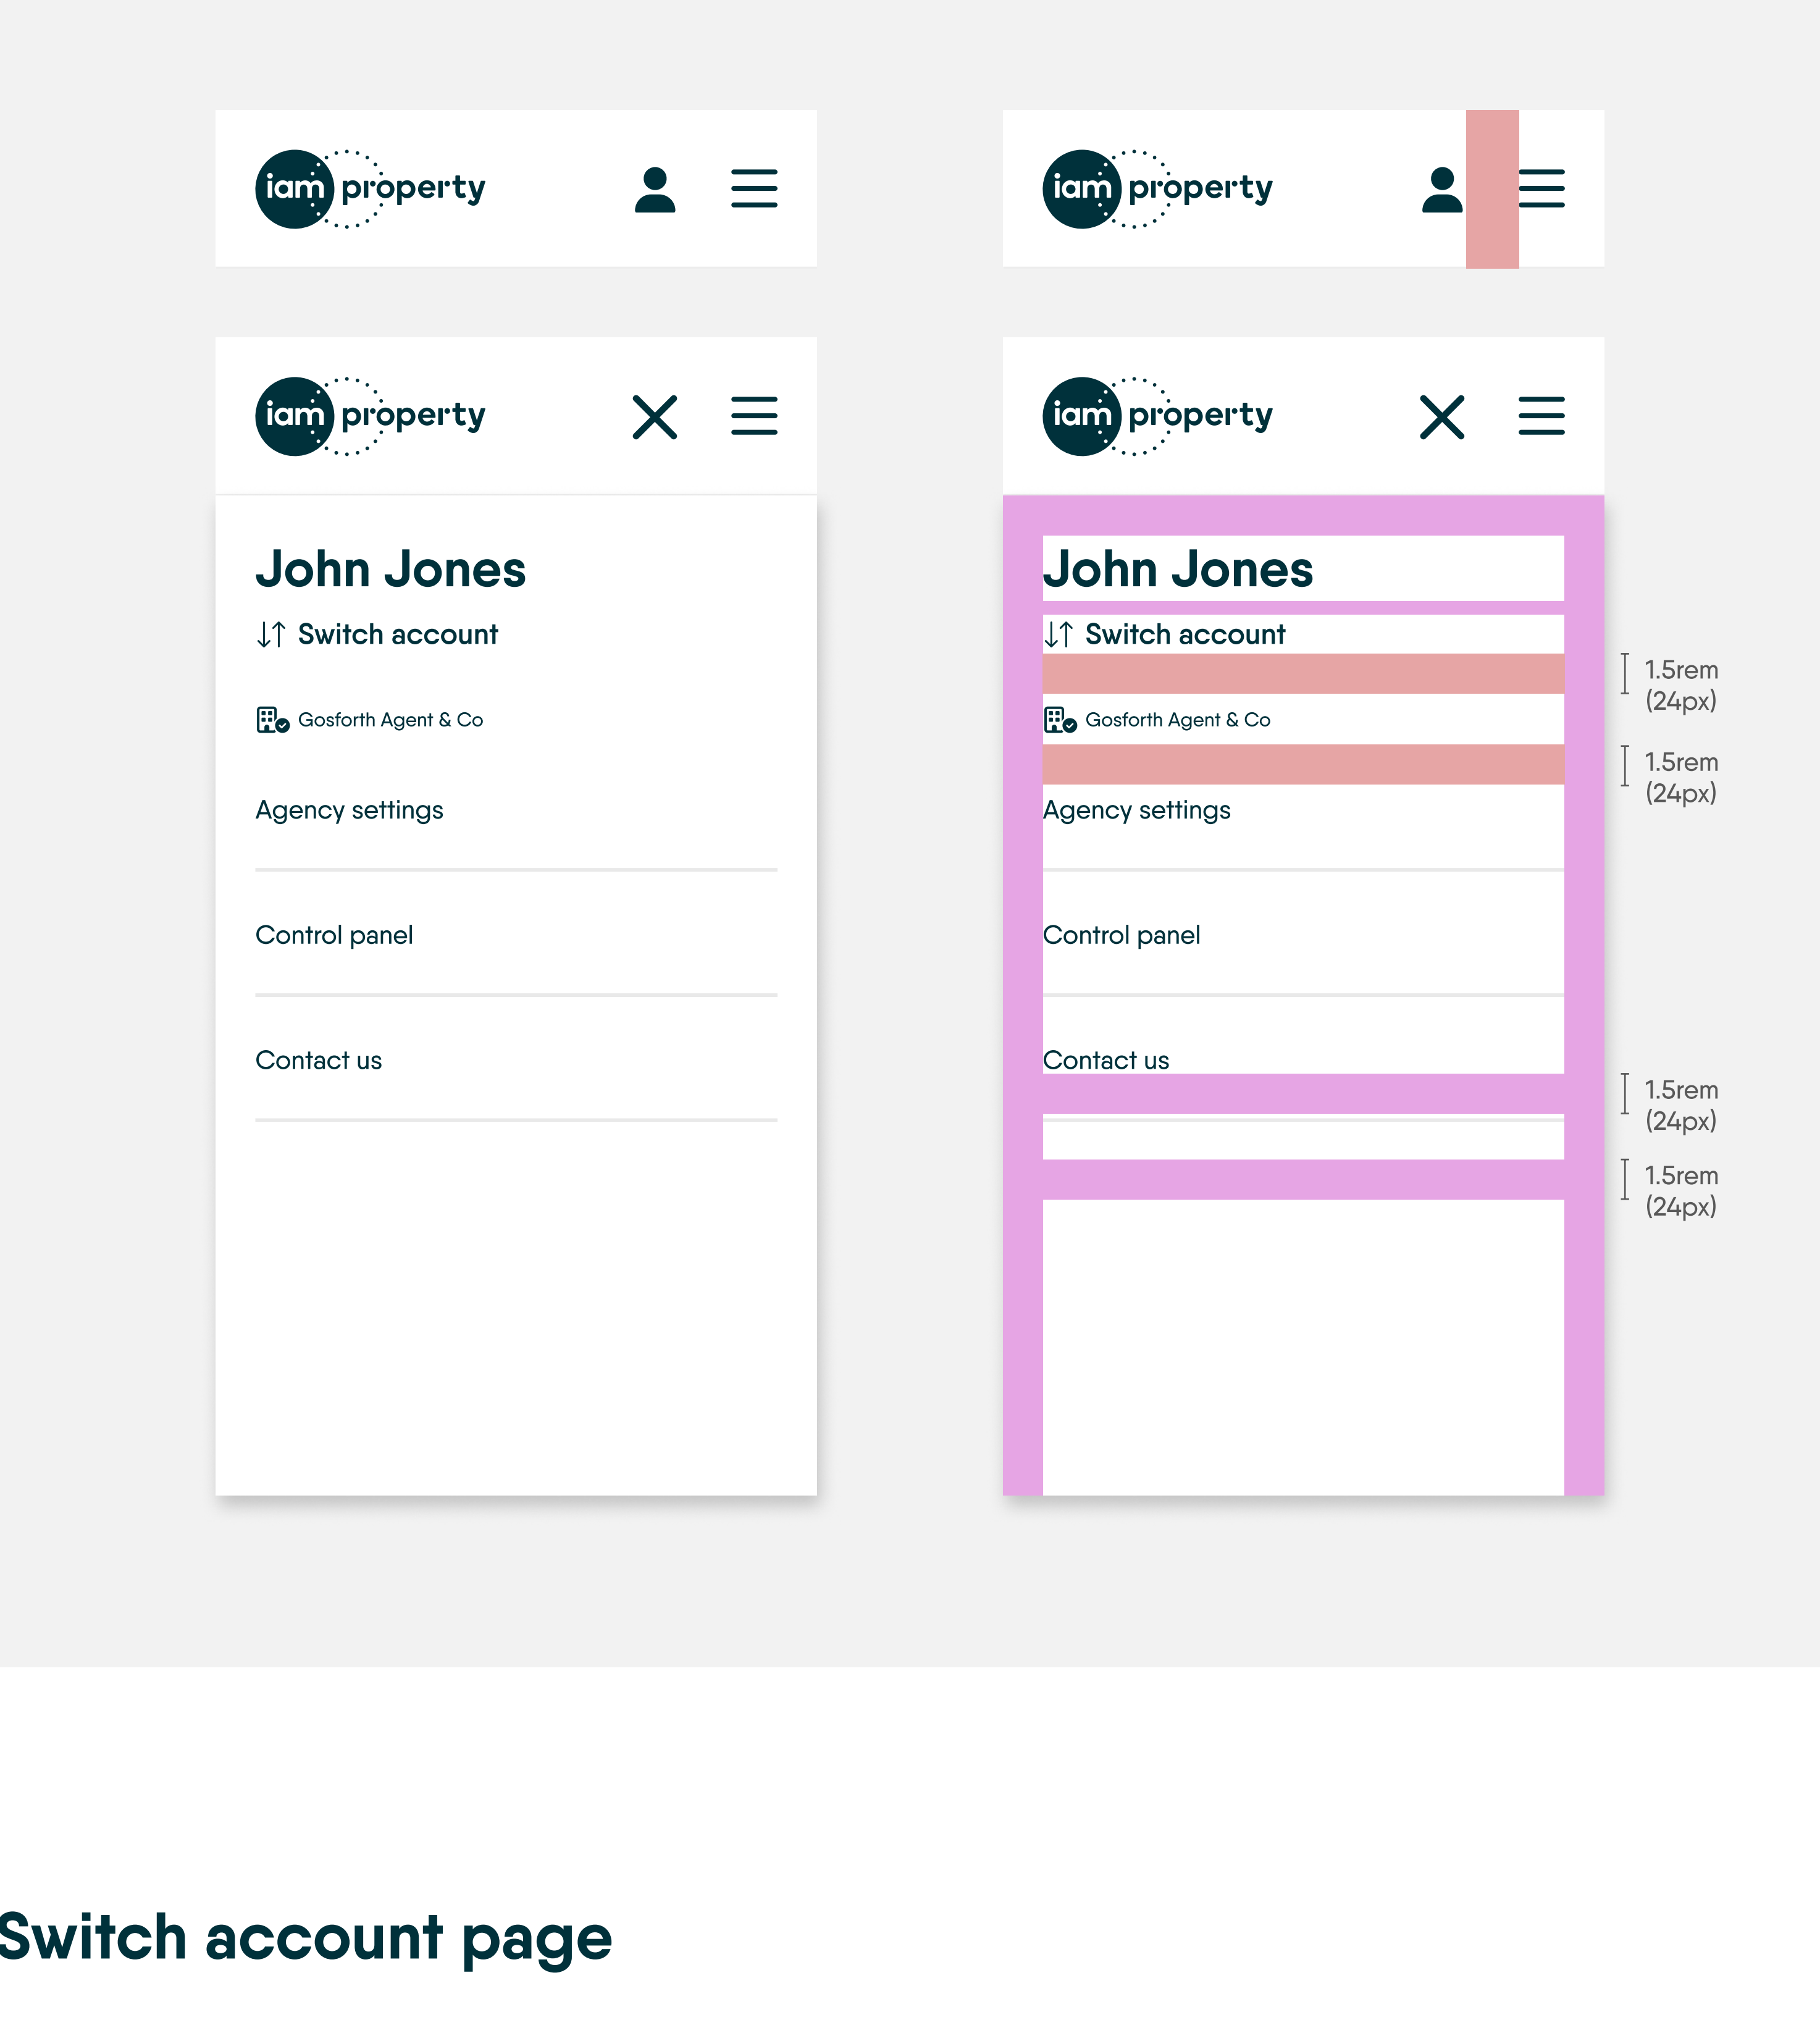

Desktop at 1280px

Tablet (at 768px)

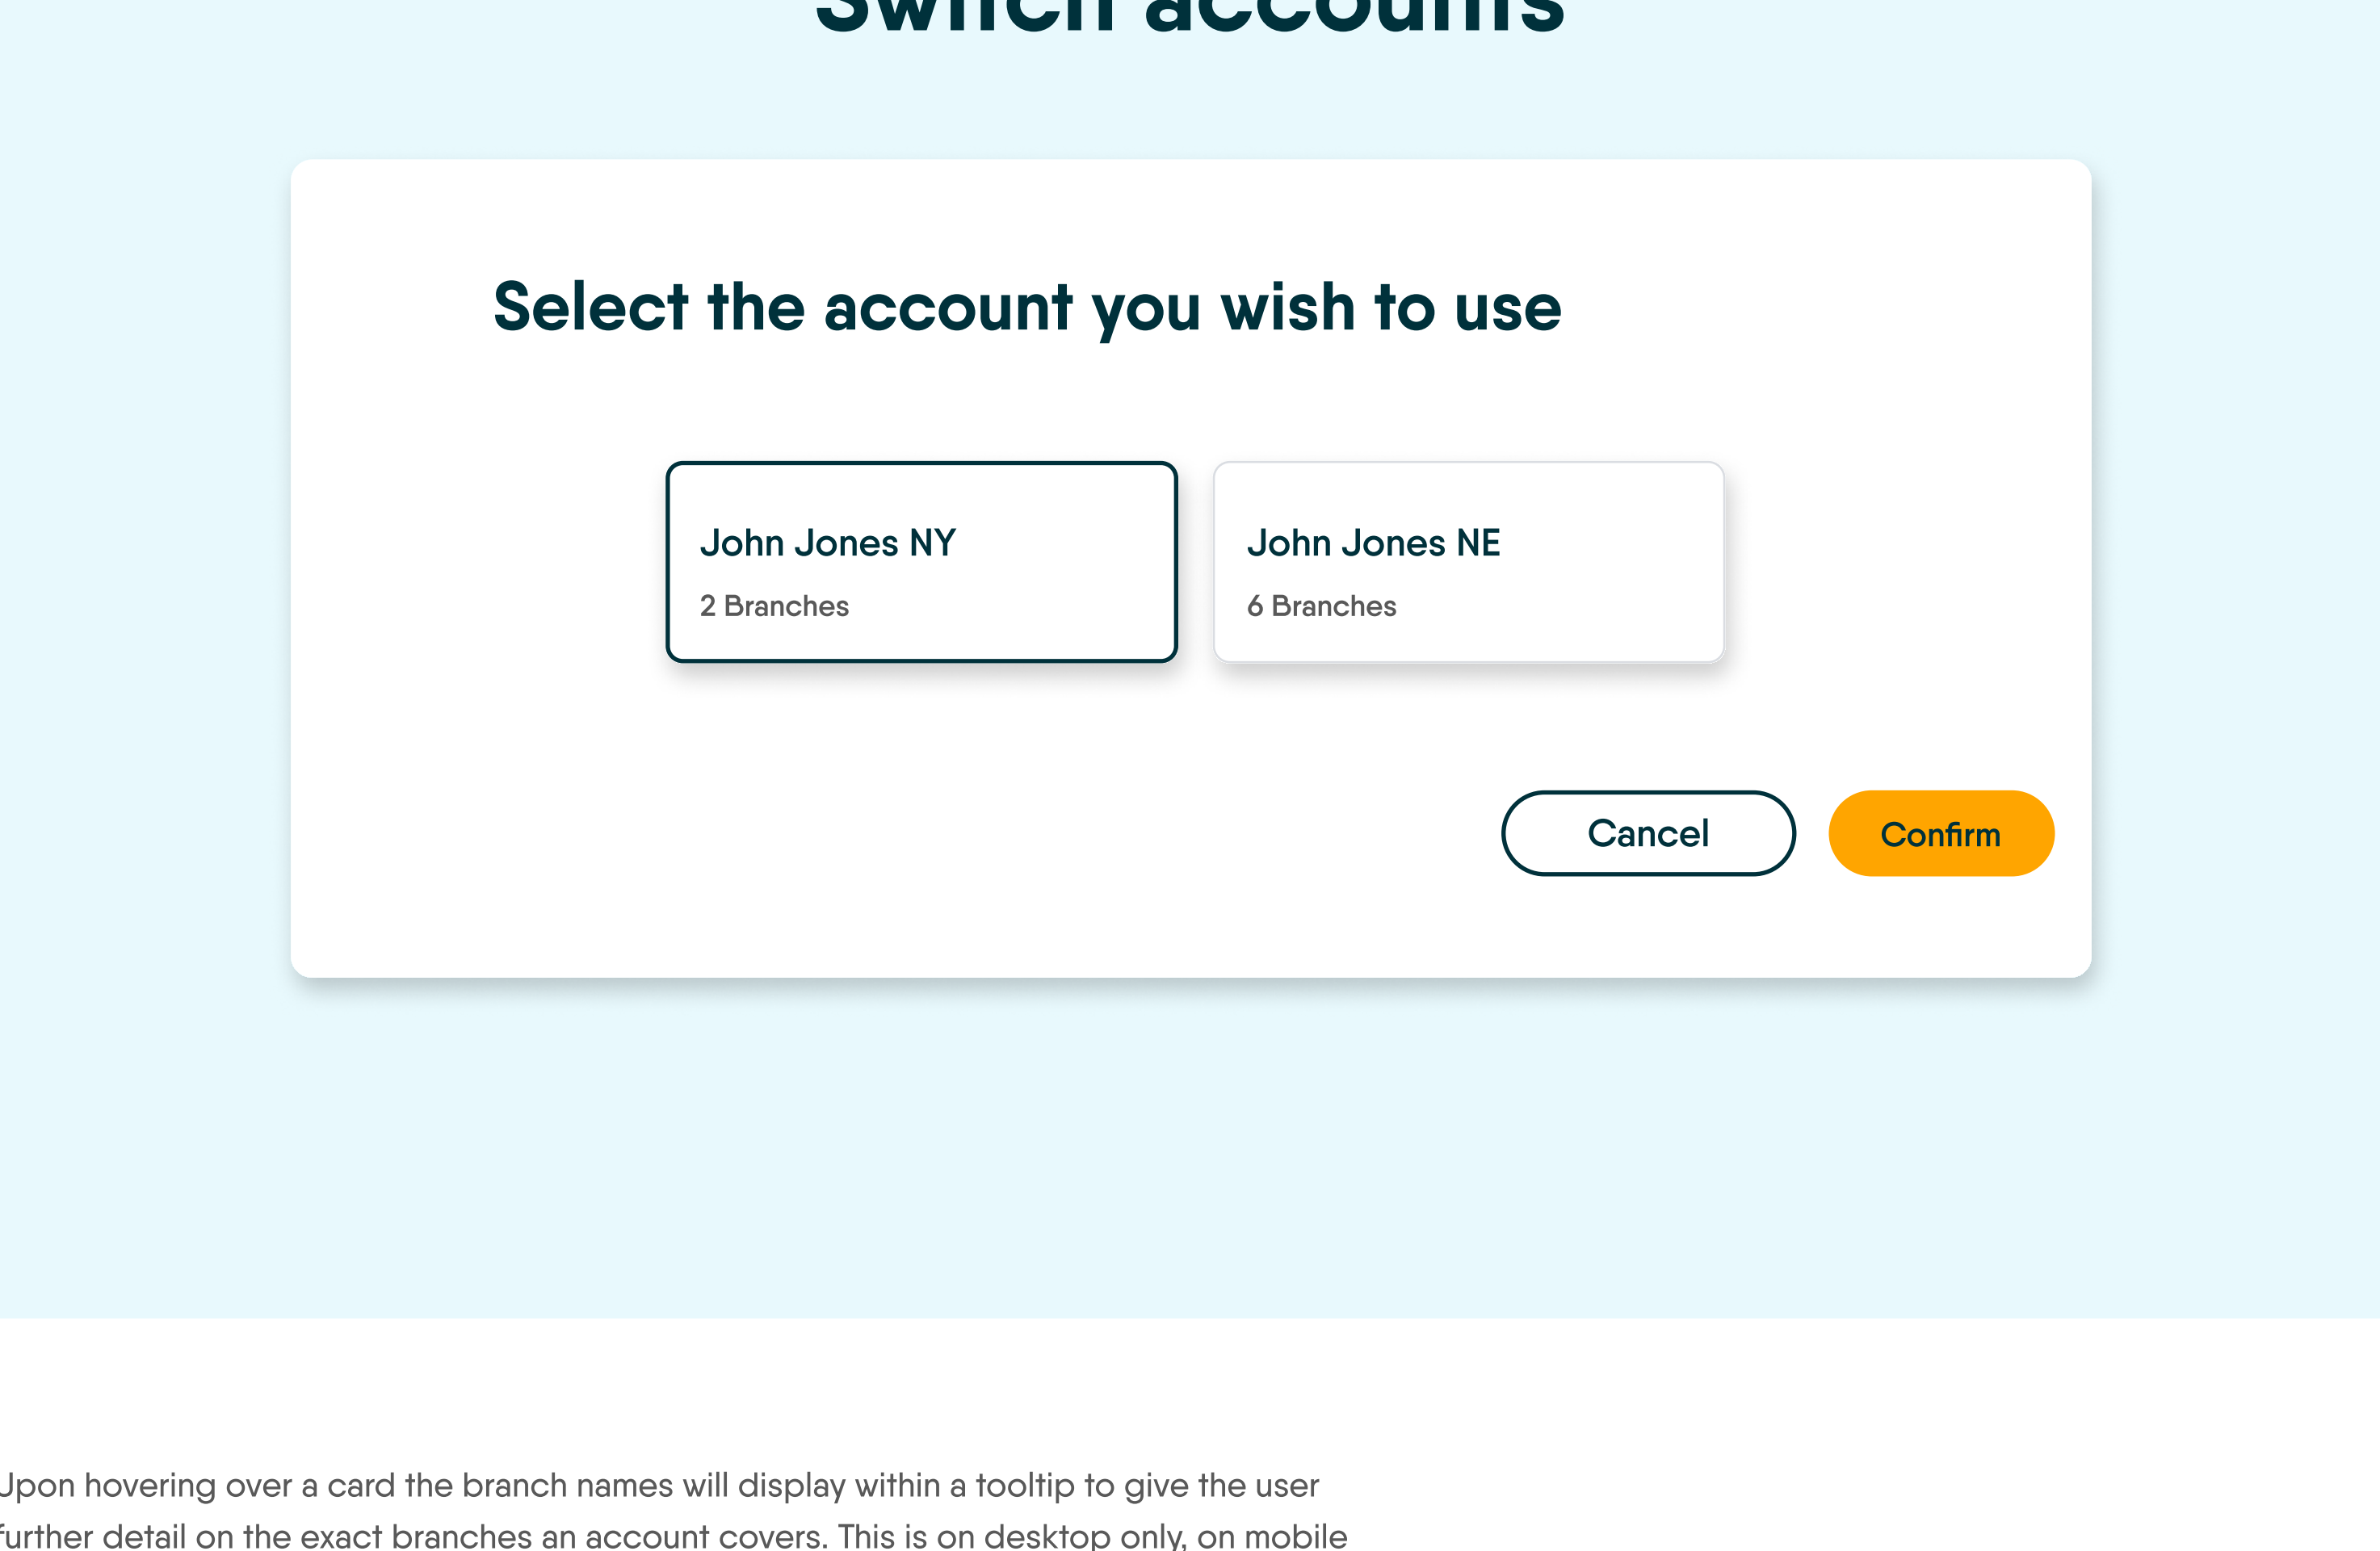

Mobile (at 375px)

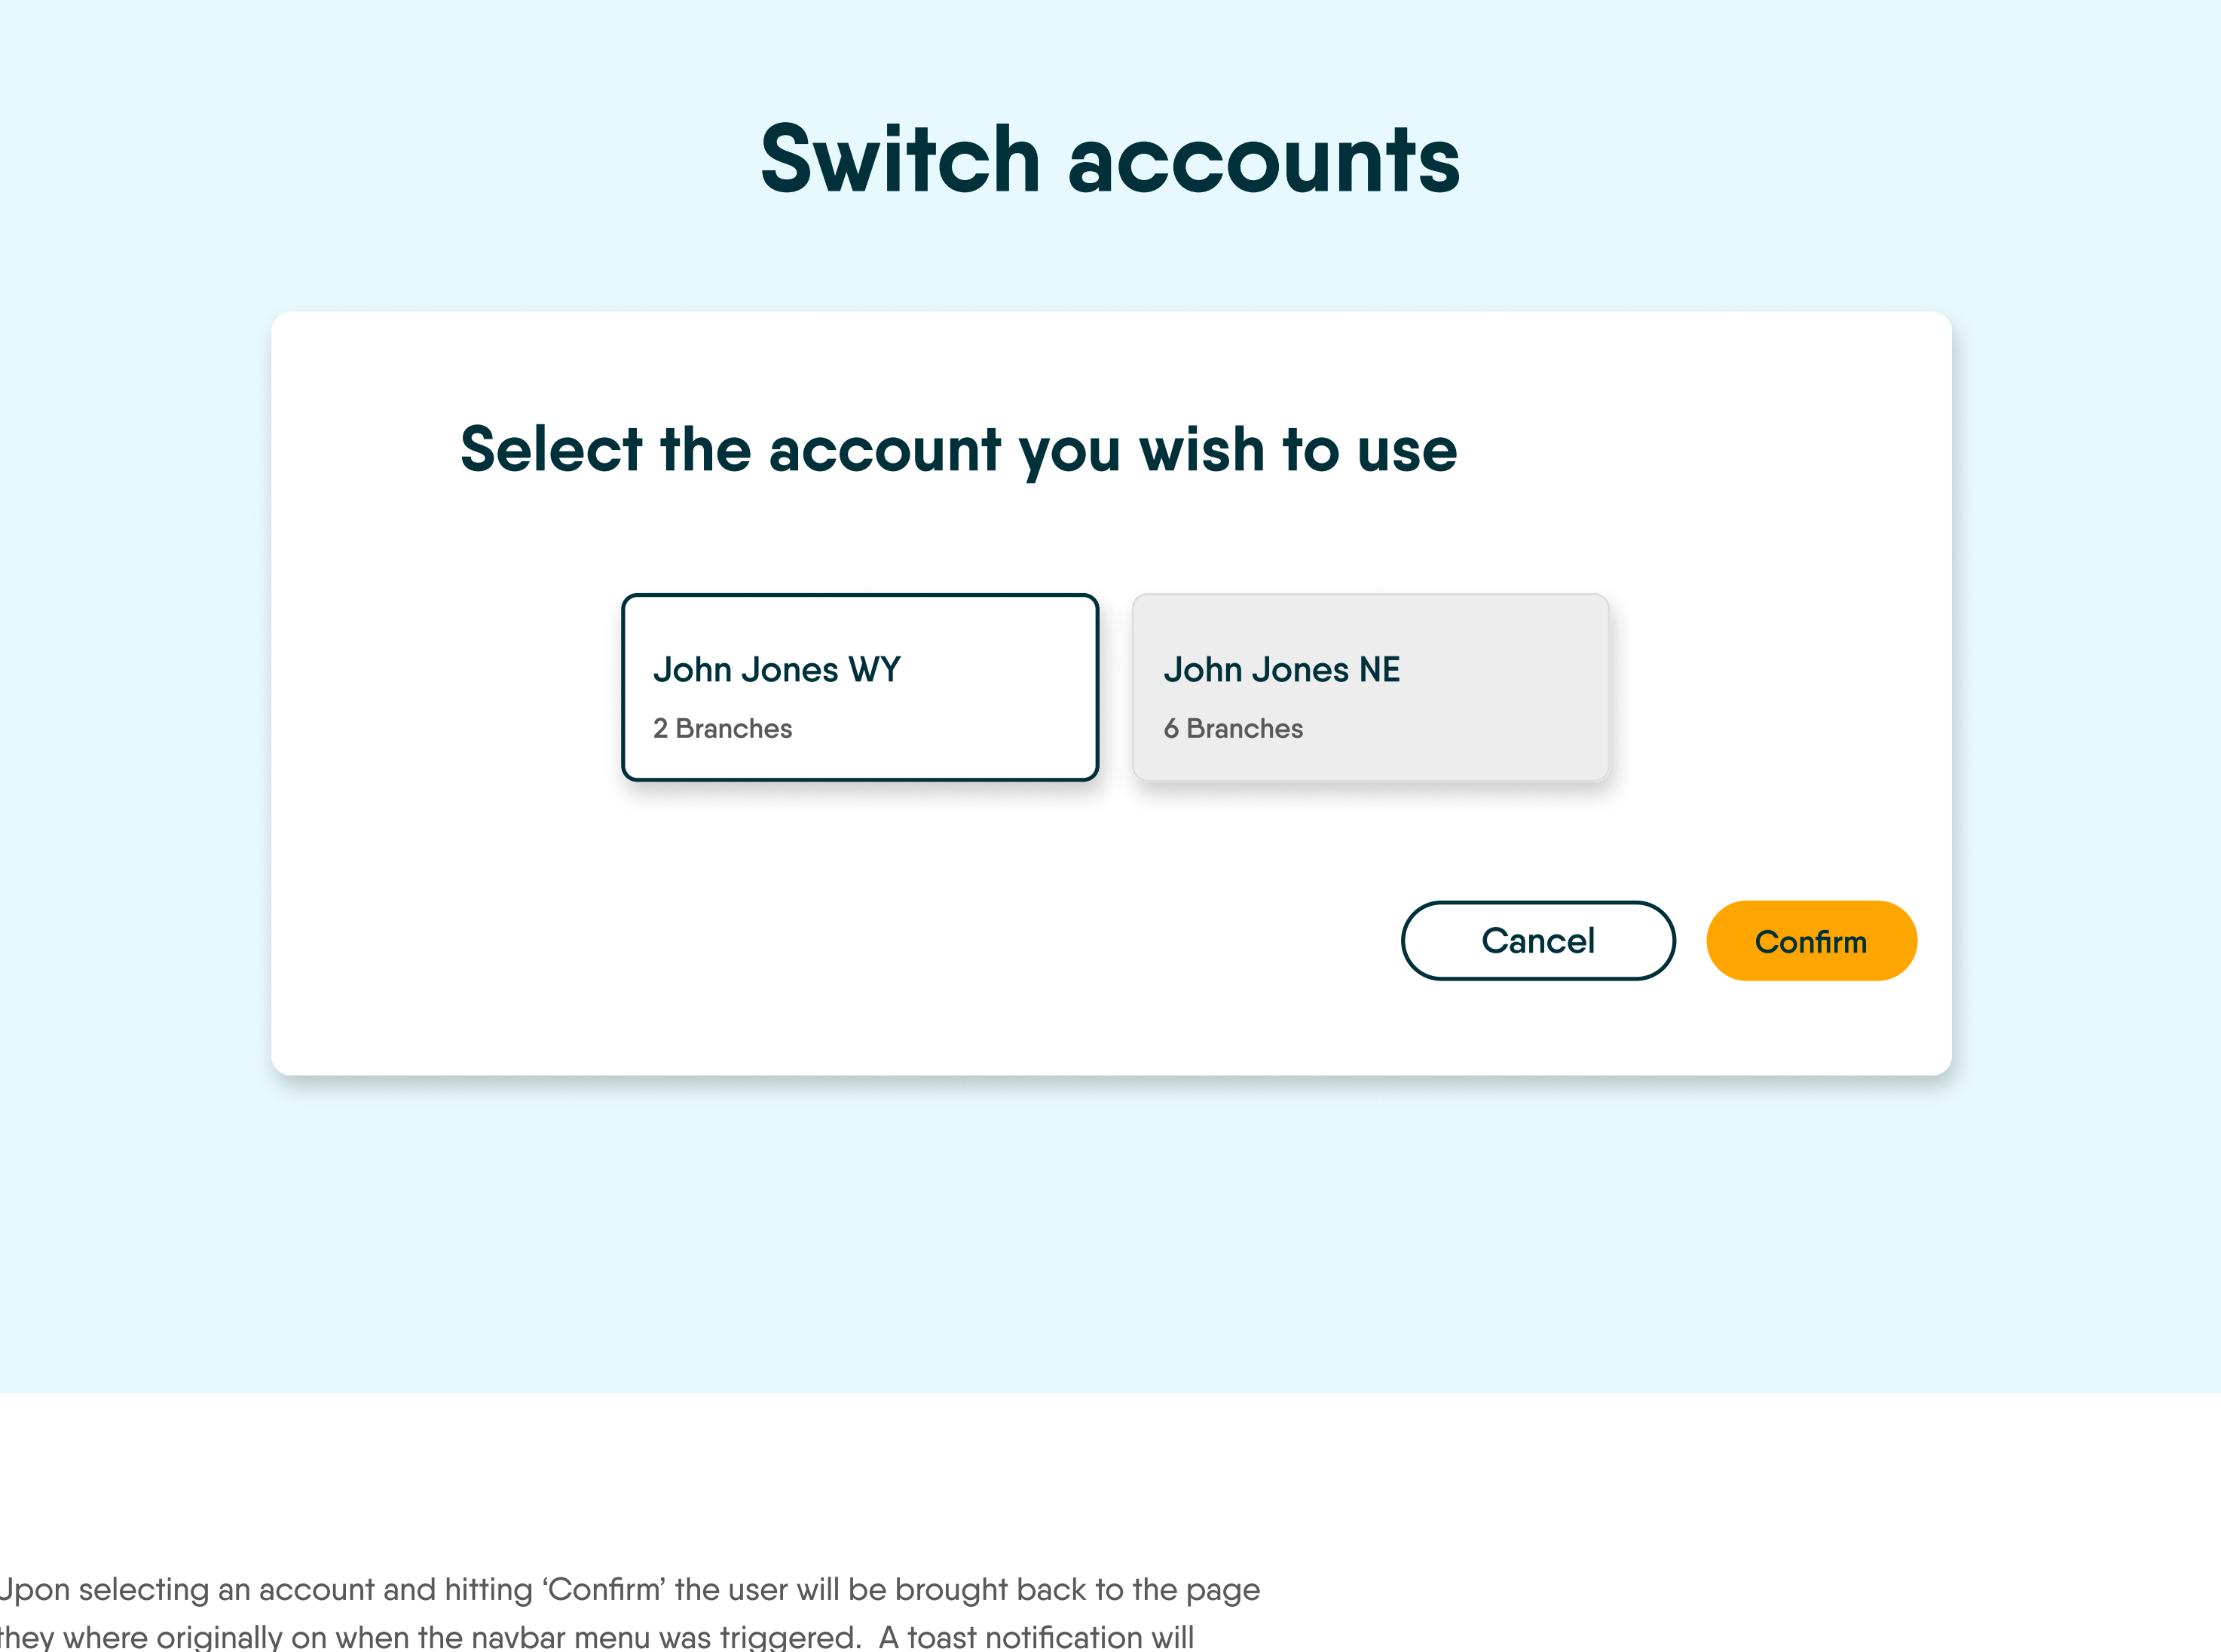

Switch account page

Pattern (using desktop at 1280px as example)

Upon clicking the 'Switch account' tertiary button within the My account menu, the user will be brought to a Switch account page, with the card pre-selected at the account they are currently using (example shows John Jones NE selected).

Upon hovering over a card the branch names will display within a tooltip to give the user further detail on the exact branches an account covers. This is on desktop only, on mobile the user will rely on the number of branches as a numeric figure, which is displayed in the default view.

Upon selecting an account and hitting 'Confirm' the user will be brought back to the page they were originally on when the navbar menu was triggered. A toast notification will display to confirm to the user that the account has been switched. If the user presses 'Cancel' from the Switch account page then the user is taken back to the page the where originally on when the navbar menu was triggered and no toast notification appears due to the account remaining the same.
